

MCVAC THANKS OPERATOR BILL RANSFORD FOR HIS OUTSTANDING SERVICE!

On November 21st McVAC operator Bill Ransford retired (from the East Coast) and is returning to Iowa to be closer to family. Bill joined McVAC in August 2020 becoming the Company’s first Long Island based operator, and beforehand he worked for environmental, infrastructure and property development contractors in the NYC metropolitan area as a gas mechanic, equipment operator, land surveyor, foreman and underwater welder.

“Bill worked hand in hand with one of Asplundh's most demanding and high-profile National Grid assist projects. Bill was solely requested to assist our crews on these projects. It's bittersweet to learn that he is retiring. We at Asplundh construction wish him all the best in his next chapter of life.”

Jim Carey, Long Island Operations Manager

“It would take pages to express the amount of gratitude we have for Bill – capturing how he consistently went about performing his work; his preparation, level of care, commitment to quality, all while out-pacing nearly everyone and setting a standard of working safely. Clients always requested Bill, we’re really going to miss him”, John Vitale, McVAC.

“The Elecnor Hawkeye team wants to extend our heartfelt appreciation to Bill, whose exceptional skill and professionalism as a McVac operator were invaluable, especially on our complex Manhattan project, and we warmly wish him all the best in his well-deserved retirement.”

Alba Agustin Tiell, NYC Area Manager

Bill’s returning to IOWA, 20 hrs. from NY. Will McVAC open a Chicago operation? Stay tuned!
